C. READING

PB page: 15 / Time: 15 mins / TB Introduction p. 9

→ Cross-curricular link: COMPUTER STUDIES.

Pre-Reading Stage

Draw pupils' attention to the format and use of an e-mail message. Explain things like the address, where it should be written, the subject and paragraphing. If you have access to a computer which has e-mail, show them a real e-mail. Compare with the writing process of a letter.

While-Reading Stage

Let them read the e-mail and complete the information below the text.

KEY

1. He answers his e-mails.
2. He and his friends use the Internet to find information.
3. He uses the Internet to talk
4. They use the Internet to play computer games with his friend.

Post-Reading Stage

- Ask pupils to present their findings.
- You can extend the discussion and talk about a vast and sparsely-populated country like Australia where children who live on farms in some cases do their schooling through Internet. They send in their assignments to tutors who live many hundreds of miles away using the Internet and they get their feedback the same way.

D1. pre-WRITING

PB page: 16 / Time: 8 mins / TB Introduction p. 10

Ask pupils to do activity D1 in pairs. They have to read what's in the chart and tick what's true for their partner. Let them work for about 5 minutes on this.

D2. LISTENING

PB page: 16 / Time: 5-7 mins / TB Introduction p. 10

Pre-Listening

- To prepare pupils for the listening activity, remind them they should only keep notes and there is no need to understand everything which is said. The aim is to find out the information to fill in the chart.
- Then, ask them to predict what kind of information they expect to see written here (names, free times activities etc). "Can you tell me what some typical names of English children are? Bob, Mary, Susan, Tim, etc. What do children like doing? Playing football, drawing, painting, playing with friends."

While-Listening

- Play the cassette/ CD once. Pupils listen and fill in the missing information.
- Play the cassette / CD again and let pupils check answers.

TAPESCRIPT

Susan: Hello! I'm Susan. Who are you?

Tom: I'm Tom. How are you, Susan?

Susan: Very well, thank you. And you?

Tom: Fine, thanks. Listen! Are you ten, like me?

Susan: No, I'm eleven. I'm a student in the fifth class of Primary school.

Tom: Oh, I see. I go to the fourth class, I'm younger than you.

Susan: Well, then. What do you like doing in your free time activities, Tom?

Tom: I like playing football and I also like reading. But my favourite hobby is working on my computer. I'm pretty good at it, you know. I love surfing the Net, too. I find out so many things about so many faraway places.... I also visit museums round the world and make friends through the Net.

Susan: Oh, that's nice. I like computer games myself, but I also like jogging.

Tom: What about your favourite hobby, then? You must like something in particular, right?

Susan: Yes, absolutely. I love painting and I want to be a painter when I grow up.

Tom: Wow, that's fantastic. You must show me some work of yours one day. Will you?

Susan: Of course I will. I'd love to. Anyway, see you later.

Tom: OK, see you tomorrow.

Post-Listening

Now, invite pupils to compare their free time interests with those of the two children in the listening passage. Ask them to report to the class what the similarities and differences are.

Differentiated pedagogy (*): Appendix, Exercise A, p. 133.

E. WRITING

PB page: 16 / Time: 8 mins / TB Introduction p. 10

- In small groups, pupils take turns in asking each other what they enjoy doing. They should find common interests.
- They should create and complete a chart like the one below by adding names and ticking the right box according to their classmates' answers. This way they can see how many classmates enjoy what things.

enjoy	name...	name...
Draw on the computer
Meet with friends
Watch sports on TV
etc.

- Don't use the infinitive + gerund terminology yet.
- One spokesperson from each group can report back to the class.

LESSON 2

INTERNET FRIENDS

Aims of the Lesson

- To introduce the characters of this book.
- To familiarize pupils with the idea of “chatting” on the Internet with friends both national or international (Internet friends).
- To revise vocabulary related to countries and nationalities.
- To familiarize pupils with the use of the Simple Present tense and its use for referring to permanent actions.
- To make them write about “A Day in My Life”.
- To introduce the idea of the English Language Portfolio.

Background knowledge

→ Cross-curricular link: COMPUTER STUDIES.

Introduce the idea of having Net friends. Explain that through the Internet it is possible to use instant messaging. It is quicker than e-mailing friends. You type a short note and you send it to another person’s computer, where it pops up on the screen. So, you can “chat” with a friend if he/ she is online too, even if both of you are using the computer for other tasks. And, of course, you don’t have to check your e-mail inbox for new messages.

Another thing is that in this instant message conversation more than two people can take part, so a group of people can be online exchanging responses at the same time. You can exchange photos and if you have microphones or speakers you can talk, too. Finally, using web cameras you can have a live conversation.

However you must also make pupils aware of the dangers of chatting on the Internet.

- They should be very careful about creating friendships with strangers.
- They should never reveal personal details about themselves, such as names and addresses.

There are many websites on this topic. One is: http://www.youngmedia.org.au/mediachildren/06_10_internet_benefits.htm

A. LEAD-IN

PB page: 18 / Time: 2-3 mins

- You present some websites that pupils can visit at school with you, their Computer Science teacher or even at home. Through these sites they can find other pupils around the world and they can establish a network of internet friends. Note: They would definitely need your help with the IKY website (www.iky.gr).
- Brainstorm with pupils and see what they might be interested in finding out from say a friend in the United States or in Australia.

B. LISTENING, READING AND WRITING

PB page: 18 / Time: 15 mins / TB Introduction p. 9, 10

Warm up

Through the images and speech bubbles, introduce the characters of the book.

Pre-Reading

Take the pupils through the chart and what their task is. The listening must be done with books closed.

While-Reading

- Play the cassette/ CD once.
- Before checking responses ask pupils to open their books and complete missing information after reading the dialogue.
- Check answers. Tapescript is in PB.

Post-Reading

- Ask them to complete the last line of the box, i.e. the one about themselves.
- Check answers and correct structures – remind them of Grammar Focus items in the previous lesson.
- Finally check knowledge of vocabulary items included in the dialogue.

VOCABULARY NOTE:

“College” as used in France, Britain and the United States:

- In France, the secondary education institutions are called Collèges. These are the equivalent of gymnasia in Greece.
- In Britain a college can be one of the following:
 1. A place where students generally over the age of 18 are trained in a particular subject, which does not always lead to a degree, e.g. The Royal College of Music.
 2. One of the parts of a particular university: e.g. Trinity College, Cambridge which is part of the University of Cambridge.
 3. A private school e.g. Eton College.
 - In the United States it is a place where students can earn a first Bachelor's degree. A university offers both bachelor's degrees and advanced degrees.

- Point out there are many exceptions. Some common ones are: British, Scottish, Welsh, French, Spanish, Greek, Dutch, Swiss, Danish, and Turkish. For the people United States, the word generally used is American, but it is not used very often as it is not strictly correct as it refers to the continent and not the country.

GRAMMAR FOCUS

PB page: 20 / Time: 10-15 mins / TB Introduction p. 12

Aim

Warm up

Invite pupils to look at the Grammar Focus section in PB Appendix (p. 20) and identify the structure (i.e. Simple Present)

Presentation

 2. the question form (focus attention to do/ does use)
 3. the negative form (don't/ doesn't use).
- Write examples on the blackboard for pupils to see and check understanding.

 - A. Most verbs: add -s to infinitive
 - B. Verbs ending in consonant + y, change the y to i and add -es.
 - C. Verbs ending in -s, -z, -ch, -sh, or -x, add -es to infinitive.

- Work on 1st person singular and ask pupils to fill in the 3 charts.
- Ensure they talk about themselves and write in the first person singular.

E. READING & SPEAKING

PB page: 21 / Time: 10-15 mins / TB Introduction p. 9, 11

→ Cross-curricular link: GEOGRAPHY.

Pre-Reading Stage

- Ask pupils to guess what an article with the title "A Day in My Life" could include. "What does this mean? The passage talks about a boy's day. What do you do each day? What time do you get up? What do you study at school? Do you study Maths, Greek, History? What do you do after school? Do you play in the playground?"

While-Reading Stage

Invite pupils to read the article of this Irish boy and, either highlight, or keep notes on the blackboard for the three topics: times/ school subjects/ activities.

Differentiated Pedagogy (*): For an easier version assign only one or two topics to pupils you feel that will not be able to cope with this task.

Post-Reading Stage

- Elicit responses. Encourage critical thinking by asking about similarities and differences with their own pupil life. Talk about the picture next to the reading.
- Ask them to find differences in the situation depicted in the photo. "What time does Richard get up and what time do you get up? Do boys & girls in India have computers in their schools? Maybe not, but we don't know. Do you?"

F. WRITING

PB page: 21 / Time: 10-15 mins / TB Introduction p. 10

This is to get pupils to express themselves using the 3rd person singular question form.

- Set the scene by eliciting what they know about India and how poor people are there. Point out India is one of the most advanced countries in terms of software production and despite the fact that people are poor many have access to computers.
- Allow time for pupils to write questions. Check correct use of "does".
- Check a sample of work done by asking pupils to read out their questions.

ACTIVITY BOOK:

UNIT 1 • LESSON 2 • ACTIVITY E • p. 10

KEY What's your name, How old are you, Where do you come from, Where do you live, do you like travelling, What else, Do

- Ask them to use ideas they have already worked on.
- They should draw and colour in pictures.

LESSON 3

Aims of the Lesson

- a. To familiarize pupils with the British Isles and with some geographical and cultural facts related to the countries therein.
- b. To encourage them search for specific information.
- c. To consolidate structures taught in this unit.
- d. To involve and encourage them to make their own project.
- e. To use sources in order to get information relevant to the successful completion of their selected project.

A. LEAD-IN

PB page: 22 / Time: 10 mins

→ Cross-curricular link: GEOGRAPHY.

Pre-Reading Stage

- Encourage pupils to read the text quickly (skim & scan) and answer the pre-question "Where could one find a text like this?"
- Probable answers: in a geography book, in an encyclopedia, in a guidebook, in the home page of a British tourist organisation etc.

B. READING

PB page: 22 / Time: 10-15 mins / TB Introduction p. 9

While-Reading Stage

- Ensure it is clear to the pupils what they are looking for: the capitals and the population.

- They are also asked to fill-in details of their own prefecture.
- The Appendix p. 134 contains additional reading on the Symbols of Britain.

C. VOCABULARY

PB page: 22 / Time: 10-15 mins / TB Introduction p. 13

- Still related to the reading, the pupils are asked to scan the text again and find words related to the 4 lexical areas.
- You may like to say something about the national flowers and check whether Greece has its own national flower.

PROJECT

PB page: 22 / Time: 30 mins / TB

Introduction p. 14

- Invite pupils to work in groups. Make sure that pupils form groups of more than 3-4 members and that they are pupils of mixed abilities.
- Explain the process of work. They have two different types of projects which they can find in the Appendix, PROJECT, (p. 134). Each group should choose one topic to work on.
- The pupils should agree on each one's role in the project (e.g. who is going to be the "secretary" to keep notes, who is going to collect the necessary material or who is going to help with writing the texts). Finally they have to decide on who is going to present it to the class.
- Explain to pupils there will be a deadline for the completion of the project so they might need to meet outside the school as well.
- Offer suggestions for the correct use of sources available in the school (e.g. library facilities, internet connection). Investigate what sources could be found at home.
- Finally, ask the groups to present their work.
